in recognition of her outstanding performance with the Central Intelligence Agency from July 1982 through March 1983. The dedication and competence of and her fellow team members enhanced the redirection and implementation of a major project in support of intelligence analysts. Her contributions to this program were in the finest traditions of her profession and justly earned the respect and admiration of all those with whom she is associated.

professionalism reflects credit on herself, the Office of Data Processing and the Central Intelligence Agency.
